Abstract

How many times has it happened, that you are just about to finish your day in the clinic, you are tired and satisfied about what you have done and you suddenly receive an emergency patient that needs an extraction? And how many times has that extraction ruined your entire day and you regret having even started it? Planning and understanding what you will face during the extraction process and how to turn something difficult into something simple and easy is crucial to your success and satisfaction as a General Dentist.

Learning Objectives & Outcomes

- Discuss diagnosis: which X-rays do you need and how to read them correctly
- Design extraction surgery protocol: how to plan the right strategy for the extraction making it simple and predictable: explain the separation of the tooth and the cleavage
- Evaluate when do you need to open a flap and how to do it
- Demonstrate how to treat the socket
- Discuss and demonstrate the right suture
- Summarize the post-operative instructions for the patient: they are as important as the surgery itself

Hands-on Training Component

The practical of the course will be performed on sheep cadavers and very special imported models.
