 TARGET AUDIENCE:
General Dentistry, Endodontics

Abstract

The Endodontics course is ideal for the busy practitioner wanting to further their endodontic skills, increase their confidence and improve their clinical outcomes.

All of the 4 tenets of Endodontics are covered and practiced, namely access cavities and identifying root canals, shaping, cleaning and obturating. Students will understand the biological concepts of endodontic disease and the limitations of current treatment modalities. Contemporary shaping with the latest instruments, the role of irrigation and canal cleaning with contemporary methods will be discussed and practiced according to the latest evidence base. Culminating with how to remove common canal obscurants when re-intervention is required.
